

Fridays With Doria & Friends

Global Excelled Business School Teachings / Distinctions

Craig Doyle shared how the Global Excelled Business School (BSE) helped him to overcome the belief that his dyslexia condition would prevent him from being successful. He learned that he could let go and achieve greater things than he had previously believed possible.

Ryll Burgin-Doyle talked about how having access to incredible experts during the business school was so beneficial because they were willing to contribute to her business. She said that this support increased her vision for what is possible and her personal capacity in every way.

Cherie Clark shared about the six principles

1. Spin - all bodies in motion orbit in action
2. Orbit - the distance we maintain, the way we move around the sun, the way we move in relationship with each other
3. Expansion / Contraction - seasons of the year, day and night, need to take action and need to rest
4. Torque - downward pressure creating forward motion
5. Inside / Out - we are all born geniuses, we get labels as we grow up and we respond to those labels, everything flows from within and gets reaffirmed by what is going on outside
6. Precession - the effect of bodies in motion on other bodies in motion

Chris Salter talked about what he learned from his mentor, Randy Craft, who helped him and other business school students to learn how to dream big and create tangible plans to achieve their dreams.

Ryll shared that working back from where you want to be is critical. She said that planning is not boring, it's the access to everything you have ever wanted.

Dr. Serge Gravelle taught about how emotions drive buying decisions and how important it is to understand nuances in marketing. In the Business School, he shares marketing knowledge that isn't taught anywhere else. He also helps business owners to know how to create both non-profit and for-profit organizations.

Michelle Patterson shared about the five to thrive to have an incredible life.

Maria Simone talked about the lessons she is looking forward to teaching at the business school that has helped her successfully generate millions in funding.
